

WILLIAMS REMAINS LEADER IN HOUSE

De Armond Will Not Contest for Place.

WILL WAIT ANOTHER YEAR

By That Time it Is Thought the Present Chieftain Will Be in Senate.

In spite of the widely circulated rumors that an attempt will be made in the next Congress to wrest the Democratic leadership in the House from John Sharp Williams, it is now practically certain that Mr. Williams will have no opposition for the post.

De Armond of Missouri has all along been considered the only candidate for the place whom Williams would have to fear. After the adjournment of the last Congress there was much talk among a largely disaffected membership of the Democrats, looking to putting De Armond into Williams' place.

De Armond Approached.

De Armond was approached on the subject with assurance that the thing could be so managed that he would get a bigger support than Williams could rally. De Armond took the thing under serious consideration.

Then came the announcement that, on the retirement of Senator Money of Mississippi, Williams would try to beat Governor Vandaman for the Senatorial seat. This made vacant, De Armond then made up his mind that he would not make a fight against Williams.

He reasoned the matter out in this way: There is a good chance that Williams will beat Vandaman for the Senate. Consequently, after the coming session, Williams will go to the Senate, leaving the House leadership vacant. Hence, there will be no contest for making the fight a little ahead of Williams, and he will be able to continue his leadership in any event when Williams goes to the Senate.

Williams Will Continue.

This conclusion was communicated to De Armond's friends last summer. Since then, things have been held in abeyance, and nothing else has been done toward beating Williams for the leadership.

Members of his party in the House now say he will be able to resume the reins of leadership this winter without question. Later on the De Armond selection will come.

CIVIL SERVICE REPORTS WILL NOT BE AFFECTED

President's Recent Dismissal Order Not to Change Methods of the Commission.

It was stated today that the recent order of President Roosevelt amending the civil service rule governing dismissals from the public service, will not change the form of the monthly reports submitted to the Civil Service Commission from the heads of the several departments.

The monthly reports give the names and number of appointments, promotions, and dismissals made during the month in each department, so that the records of the commission will be correct as to the number of employees in the civil service. In these reports no statement is made or reason assigned for the dismissal of a clerk.

As Commissioner Greene said, the Civil Service Commission never had the power to order a clerk reinstated after the clerk had been dismissed.

On an average about 100 appeals a year have been made in the past to the commission by clerks who were dismissed on charges, but with the exception of five or six cases the appeals were never personally investigated by the commission, for the reason that the question was one within the exclusive jurisdiction of the head of the department making the dismissal for cause.

The new order will perhaps do away with appeals to the Civil Service Commission.

HAPPY WASHINGTON BRIDE AND GROOM

MRS. GEORGE LANGDON WHITFORD, GEORGE LANGDON WHITFORD, Were Married at St. Stephen's Church Yesterday Afternoon at 4:45 O'clock, the Rev. George F. Dudley Officiating. The Bride Was Formerly Miss Florence Evans O'Brien.

PRETTY CEREMONY AT ST. STEPHEN'S

Nuptials of George Langdon Whitford, of This City, and Miss Florence Evans O'Brien Solemnized by the Rev. George F. Dudley, Rector of Church.

Miss Florence Evans O'Brien, niece of Mrs. Mary E. O'Brien, was married to George Langdon Whitford, of this city, yesterday afternoon in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, the Rev. George F. Dudley officiating. The bride was attended by Miss Nettie Classen, maid of honor, and the groom by E. O. Whitford, his brother, as best man.

The bride entered the church with her aunt, Mrs. O'Brien, who gave her in marriage. She wore a going-away gown of London gray broadcloth, with hat, gloves, and wrap to match, and carried a bunch of violets. The maid of honor wore white tulle, and carried white chrysanthemums. The bride and groom left the city for their wedding trip immediately after the ceremony.

On account of the mourning of the bride, the wedding was very small and very simple. Mr. and Mrs. Whitford will be away for a few weeks, after which they will be at home at 1209 Princeton street.

The marriage last evening of Miss Florence Holbrook-Johnson, daughter of the late Joseph R. Johnson and Mrs. Johnson, to Harry James Tompkins, of this city, but formerly of Troy, N. Y., was celebrated in St. Thomas P. E. Church at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. W. L. Davenport, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, in Annapolis, an old family friend of the bride, acted as the rector of St. Thomas Church, the Rev. C. Ernest Smith, and the Rev. Dr. Aspinwall performed the ceremony.

Tall bunches of white chrysanthemums, mixed with tall palms, formed the principal decorations. The bride wore a white satin dress, marked the family pew. The music was by George Webster, organist, a personal friend of the bride's family. The ushers were Arthur Houghton, of Glen Echo, Md.; Ansen Betts, of Langsborough, N. C.; John Foley, and Ernest Sterling. The maid of honor was Miss Jean Wallace Johnson, sister of the bride, and she wore a gown of white China silk, trimmed with Mechlin lace, a picture hat of white lace and veil, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids were Miss Mary Davenport, of Annapolis, and Miss Annette Tompkins, of Troy, the latter a sister of the bridegroom. Their gowns were of white silk and lace. They also wore large white picture hats, and carried bouquets of white chrysanthemums. The bride was given away by her uncle, Dr. J. C. Holbrook, of Newark, N. J., wore an exquisite robe of delicate white striped tulle made over white chiffon and silk. It was made demitain, and with a superb bertha of embroidered silk renaissance. The bride wore a picture hat of white chiffon, and ostrich plumes. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley, and a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The groom wore a dark suit, and carried a boutonniere of white chrysanthemums.

The bridegroom's brother, Frank Tompkins, was best man. A reception in the home of the bride's mother on Belmont avenue followed the church ceremony, only the bride's party and relatives being asked. The parlors were decorated in white and green, palms, ferns, and white chrysanthemums being used in the drawing room, only delicate greens in the large hall, and pink and green in the dining room. The table was extremely pretty in pink-capped candles, maiden-hair ferns, and pink roses.

Among the out-of-town guests were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Geneva Bishop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vanden R. Bishop, of this city; to Edmond H. Jones, of New York. The ceremony was performed in the Ninth Street Christian Church by the Rev. E. B. Bagby, pastor of that church. The bride, who is well known in musical circles, has been a teacher in the Belmont avenue for the winter. The bride is one of the prominent young people in St. Thomas Church, having been a teacher in the Sunday school there for some years, and she and her family being among the very first members of that church when it was a chapel.

o'clock last night, the Rev. Theron Outwater officiating. The bride was given away by her father, and she wore a simple gown of white, with tulle veil caught up with sprays of lilies of the valley and carried Bride roses. She was attended by Miss Rebecca Luckett, as maid of honor, who wore a dainty white gown, and carried La France roses, and by little Miss Harriett Pruitt, as flower girl.

The best man was Harry E. Vernon and the ushers were Frank Baise, Ira N. Robey, Edward Johnson, and Watson Isaac. Edward Robinson rendered the wedding march from "Lohengrin" as the bridal party entered the church, and Mendelssohn's march as a recessional. Miss Josephine Gould, a friend of the bride, sang "O Promise Me" during the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Robey left immediately for a Southern trip, and will be at home after November 7, at 304 Eighth street northeast.

A very pretty wedding took place at 7 o'clock last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Greenwell, Prince and Alfred streets, Alexandria, when their daughter, Miss Mary Regina Greenwell, became the wife of Robert Forsyth Downham. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Henry J. Cutler, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, in the presence of the members of the two families. The marriage was solemnized in the parlor, which was beautifully decorated with palms and chrysanthemums.

The bride and bridegroom entered together, while a cousin of the former, Miss Lillian Callahan, played Mendelssohn's Wedding March. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Lottie Greenwell, and was given in marriage by her father. The bridegroom's best man was Councilman Julian Y. Williams.

The bride wore a handsome princess gown of white chiffon, over which tulle, and carried Bride roses. Her only ornament was a diamond sunburst, the gift of the groom. The maid of honor wore white organdie over pink silk, and carried La France roses. After an informal reception, Mr. and Mrs. Downham left town for the North to spend their honeymoon.

They will be at home at the residence of the bride's father after November 5, and next spring will occupy the old Lee residence, at the corner of Washington and Oronoco streets, which Mr. Downham purchased and remodeled some time since.

Mrs. Downham is one of the most prominent vocalists in Alexandria. She was a student of Bishop, has been the leading soprano in the choir at Christ Episcopal Church for several years. Mr. Downham is a member of E. E. Downham Company, of which his father, former Mayor E. E. Downham, is the head, and is one of the most successful young business men in Alexandria. Mr. Downham is also prominent in Masonic circles, and is one of the most active members of the Travelers' Protective Association in this State.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Vincent de Paul's Church last evening at 5:45 o'clock by the Rev. P. J. O'Connell, an intimate friend of both bride and groom, when Charles E. Taylor and Miss Mary E. Kirby were married. Only the members of the two families were present. After the ceremony the couple left for a trip to New York and Boston, and will return November 1.

Miss Grace Elizabeth Taylor, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. W. F. Taylor, was married to Arthur Watts Yerkes, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Yerkes, last evening at 7:30, the Rev. William L. Lynn officiating. The bride and groom entered the parlor to the strains of "Lohengrin," played by the sister of the groom, Miss Amy Yerkes.

Following the ceremony, which took place under a bower of palms and chrysanthemums, and which was witnessed by the immediate families and most intimate friends, a large reception was held. The parlor was artistically decorated in palms and white chrysanthemums, while the dining room was in red roses and palms.

The bride wore white silk mull, trimmed in Mechlin lace and ribbon, and carried white chrysanthemums. Her traveling suit was of wine-colored broadcloth, with hat to match.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Yerkes left for an extended northern trip, and will be at home after the 1st of December.

The marriage of Miss Mary M. Keller to William G. Highfield took place at 7:30 o'clock last evening at the parsonage of the Temple Baptist Church, the Rev. J. J. Muir officiating. The bride wore a going-away gown of gray, with hat to match, and carried Bride roses. A reception followed in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. William Hebron, 34 H street northwest. After November 15 Mr. and Mrs. Highfield will be at home at 1709 Fourth street northwest.
